

must1 Complete the sentences with must or mustn't.2 Rewrite the sentences with must or mustn't.

Don't change the meaning of the sentence.

Finish your lunch!

You must finish your lunch.

1 Don't wear those pants!

2 Use a dictionary!

3 Don't run in the house!

4 Listen to me!

5 Don't be late for school!

6 Wash your hands before lunch.

Compounds: some / any / no3 Choose the correct answers.

Someone / Somewhere is calling you.

1 I have nowhere / nothing to go.

2 Let's go something / somewhere tonight.

3 There isn't anywhere / anyone at the door.

4 The dog is nowhere / no one.

5 Why don't we eat something / someone different for dinner?

6 He knows nowhere / nothing about animals.

4 Complete the words with -one, -thing, or -where.

Did you meet any one interesting at the party?

1 There is some _____ interesting to see.

2 No _____ is nicer than home.

3 Dad, there's some _____ at the door!

4 My shoes must be some _____.

5 No _____ was in the library this afternoon.

Compounds: every5 Complete the sentences with everybody, everything, or everywhere.

I always tell my friend Anna everything.

1 _____ from our class was at the party.

2 We looked _____ for Mom's cell phone, but we never found it.

3 _____ in our family likes pizza.

4 _____ he said was true.

5 I go _____ on my bike.

6 Rewrite the sentences. Substitute the words in bold with everyone, everybody, everything, or everywhere.

I looked (in the house, the yard, and the garage) for my coat.

I looked everywhere for my coat.

1 (All my friends and family) was at school.

2 I put (all my things) in the cupboard.

3 (All the people) in my family hates eggs.

4 Did she eat (all the food) on her plate?

5 We went (to all the places) in New York by taxi.

6 I saw (all the people) I know at my sister's party.

7 Do we have (all we need) for our vacation?
